LARGEST CITY

VOTE COLUMNO'DWYER ELECTED AS SUCCESSOR TO LA GUARDIA

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—Gang-buster William O'Dwyer was elected mayor of New York City today in a landslide vote which his Democrat followers said marked "the beginning of the end of Governor Dewey's influence as a political figure in New York State."

With 3,462 of the city's 4,033 election districts reported, O'Dwyer had 993,259; General Sessions Judge Jonah Goldstein, Republican-Liberal-Fusion party, 363,735; and Newbold Morris, No Deal party, 349,693.

Goldstein had Dewey's support and Morris was backed by La Guardia. Four other contenders, representing small political groups, trailed far behind.

First In 12 Years
On next January 1 he will take office—the first Democrat to be elected mayor here in 12 years.

Goldstein and Morris conceded victory to the Irish O'Dwyer—he was born in County Mayo, Ireland, 55 years ago—less than three hours after the polls had closed at 7 p. m.

O'Dwyer, who studied law in his spare time while pounding the sidewalks as a city cop years ago, in a victory statement said:

"We must all realize that we are facing four difficult years. It will take the united efforts of the people and the administration to pull through."

"I intend to be the mayor. I will be the mayor of all the people and I hope that I can have the support of all the people in this heavy task."

Dewey's Power Waning
Paul E. Fitzpatrick, Democratic state chairman, declared in a statement that O'Dwyer's victory "marks the beginning of the end of Governor Dewey's influence as a political figure in New York State."

It was as Kings county district attorney that O'Dwyer prosecuted what became known as "Murder, Inc." Seven men in the roundup of the gang which hired itself out to do murder.

CURLEY IN AGAIN
Boston, Nov. 6 (AP)—U. S. Representative James M. Curley, veteran political campaigner, tonight was elected mayor of Boston for the fourth time.

Mayor John E. Kerrigan conceded the election of the 71-year-old congressman on the basis of returns from 250 of the city's 395 precincts.

Four times a U. S. representative and once governor of Massachusetts, Curley built up a commanding lead in the non-partisan election in which six Democrats sought the mayoralty.

Plane Crashes Near
Monroe; Pilot Bails

Monroe, Mich., Nov. 6 (AP)—A Navy plane from the Grasse II base caught fire in the air today and crashed on John Major's farm on the Wells road, 18 miles west of Monroe.

The pilot, Ensign Brown (first name unavailable), bailed out when the plane was 7,000 feet in the air. He landed, two miles from where the plane crashed, against barbed wire fence, cutting his legs and injuring his back. His condition is not critical.

LEFT-WINGERS
REFORM FRANCESweeping Nationalization
Program Demanded In New Constitution

BY ROBERT C. WILSON

Paris, Nov. 6 (AP)—The dominant left-wing bloc in France's constituent assembly today demanded sweeping nationalization of the nation's enterprises as the newly-elected delegates took over the reins of government from Gen. De Gaulle and started work on a new constitution.

The demands were part of a broad program circulated at the initial session of the assembly by the Communist and Socialist parties, which control a majority of the delegates.

The program called for labor sharing in industrial management, government-controlled foreign trade, progressive emancipation for natives of France's empire, an uncensored press controlling its own news agency, and closer collaboration among the major Allied powers.

The proposed steps would go beyond the nationalization program of Britain's government.

The assembly had accepted the resignation of Gen. De Gaulle as provisional president, submitted in accordance with a referendum vote, but the delegates clearly indicated that they wanted De Gaulle's leadership continued during the seven months before the new constitution sets up a fourth republic.

Guam-Manila Trip

Honolulu, Nov. 6 (AP)—A search was begun late today for a Naval Air Transport Service C-54 Sky-master many hours overdue on a 1,600-mile flight from Guam to Manila Bay.

NATS said no trace has been found of the four-engine transport which was carrying 13 passengers and seven crewmen. It last was heard from only 100 miles from its destination Langley Point Manila Bay, where it was due at 2:30 a. m. today, Eastern Standard Time.

Names of all passengers and crewmen were withheld.

MARINES LEAVE
CHINA BY DEC. 5All-Out Civil War Due
To Blow Lid At Any Moment

BY SPENCER MOOSA

Chungking, Nov. 6 (AP)—American Marines sitting precariously on the lid of seething North China will go home, probably by Dec. 5, unofficial Tientsin reports said today—leaving China's scrapping Communist and government forces to make their own peace or fight their own war.

Pessimists expect the lid to blow at any moment, and there was evidence today that American military leaders also are increasingly concerned about the possibility of all-out civil war. Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, returning from Washington to his China command, flew to Peiping first, to confer directly with his field commanders in the North China trouble zones.

Dispatches from Peiping today said there still was no confirmation or denial of Communist claims that American Marines had driven the Reds from the summer resort town of Beitaiho, near Chinwangtao with machine guns.

Communists are besieging the city of Yencheng, only 160 miles northwest of Shanghai, the headquarters of Nationalist Gen. Tang En-Po, reported.

Reports from the Yenan headquarters of the Chinese Reds said today that they were proceeding "full steam ahead" with plans for all-out civil war—in the evident fear that current peace talks in Chungking would fail.

Senate Liberalizes
G. I. Bill Of Rights
For Aiding Veterans

Washington, Nov. 6 (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee approved amendments to the G. I. Bill of Rights today designed to smooth the way for veterans to go to school or borrow money.

The legislation would sweep away age restrictions on government-paid schooling, provide more money for student living expenses, and liberalize loan provisions so veterans will have better chances in their own businesses.

The Senate bill would permit veterans to borrow working capital as well as money for real estate, and would give them 10 years instead of the present five after the official end of the war to apply for loans.

The maximum term of loans to buy homes would be increased from 20 years to 25, farm loans to 40 years.

The bill would increase school living allowances of single veterans from $50 to $65 a month. Student veterans with dependents would receive $90 instead of $75.

He called for Allied control of Japan, and while he described the London Foreign Ministers Conference as a failure, he said "only the joint efforts of the three great powers" could "secure the victories of the democratic countries over Fascism."

The United Nations, he asserted, must not "become the tool of any one great power."

On atomic energy, the foreign commissar said:

"We desire that our nation shall bloom, and that there will be atomic energy and many other things."

"It is not possible at the present time for a technical secret of any great size to remain the exclusive possession of some one country or some narrow circle of countries."

Party leaders continued discussions looking toward a new government under Zoltan Tildy, Small Holders' leader, as premier, and an announcement may be made Friday. The new parliament will convene about November 15.

BADGER SOLON
RAPS TRUMAN
WAGE POLICYPROGRAM LIKE CIO
HANDOUT, SAYS
SEN. WILEY

BY JACK BELL

Washington, Nov. 6 (AP)—Senator Wiley (R-Wis.) launched today the first full-blown senatorial criticism of President Truman's policies with an assertion that the administration's legislative program "sounds like a CIO handout."

Senator Hatch (D-NM), one of Mr. Truman's closest friends when the president was a senator, retorted immediately that the president and his administration "will be judged by the American people at the proper time and in the truly American way."

Wiley opened the discussion by reading a letter Mr. Truman had written the Wisconsin senator replying to the latter's suggestion that a national conference be called on the question of universal peacetime military training.

Wiley said he thought it "inconsistent" for the president to call a labor-management conference that is "terribly unsensitively of the parties involved" when he declined to call a conference on defense problems.

"President Pussfoot," Then he launched into the first full criticism of the president's program that has been heard in the Senate since Mr. Truman took over the executive office.

He said Mr. Truman had made "a wage speech which goes up the hill and back down again and leaves the situation as badly muddled as before."

"The president pussyfoots with irresponsible labor dictators who are shamelessly wrecking our recovery effort."

"I am speaking thusly because it is still my own and millions of others' dearest hope that the Harry Truman in the White House will reverse his march down the CIO-PAC highway to ruin."

Wiley declared.

Hatch called this "partisan criticism and fault finding."

The New Mexico senator said he could see no inconsistency in the president's calling the labor-management conference and in not calling a conference on peacetime military training.

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) first suggested the labor-management conference.

REPORT ON CAR
PROFITS SIFTEDIndustry Challenges
Commerce Office
Data On Costs

Detroit, Nov. 6 (AP)—The Automobile Manufacturers' Association today challenged a commerce department report that the car industry could advance wages over the next two years without increasing costs and still "make high profits."

George Romney, general manager of the association, made public a letter to Secretary Wallace asking for a "re-examination and correction of the statement on the basis of available facts."

He asked also for the right on behalf of the car industry to examine and obtain copies of whatever statistical studies authors of the report may have used to support their statements.

R. J. Thomas, president of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) in a statement last Saturday, asserted that the government was withholding information showing the motorcar industry could grant 30 per cent wage rate increases and still make high profits.

The union has demanded 30 per cent wage increases throughout the industry and will resume negotiations with General Motors Corp. on the demand tomorrow.

At the same time a strike vote will be taken in Ford Motor Co. plants in support of the demand. Workers on General Motors and Chrysler Corp. already have voted in favor of a strike.

Sailors In Pacific
Get Home For Yule

Washington, Nov. 6 (AP)—Navy demobilization passed the half-million mark last weekend.

Present schedules call for release of approximately 1,200,000 by the end of the year. The halfway mark is expected to be reached before the end of January.

"Of those in the Pacific eligible for release," officials told reporters, "the bulk if not all will be home Christmas."

Italian Armistice
Terms Made Public;
Harshness Relaxed

BY GRAHAM HOVEY

Washington, Nov. 6 (AP)—Italy's 26-month-old armistice terms finally were made public today, but restoration of that battered country to full international standing still appeared to be months away.

Publication of the armistice terms in Washington, London, and Rome disclosed that the British-American Allies, on paper at least, had imposed on their beaten enemy a severe surrender pact. In practice, however, it became increasingly lighter.

The original terms signed September 3, 1943, were more sweeping and detailed than those meted out to the former German satellite nations of Romania, Bulgaria and Hungary. They gave the Allies complete control over all phases of Italy's military, economic and political life.

The terms contained none of the widely-rumored provisions for permanent disposal of Italian territory and property. Newsmen immediately asked why the pact had been kept secret for more than two years.

Officials replied that the Allied military had opposed publication during the war on grounds that the terms would be used for propaganda purposes by the Germans and Mussolini's puppet-Fascist regime.

They conceded, however, that the enemy had used the terms for propaganda anyway by contending that they were so severe the Allies were afraid to publish them.

Government officials said the United States and Britain currently are considering revision of the armistice so as to restore Italian sovereignty. There has been no reply by either government as yet, however, to Italian Premier Patti's latest request for revision.

WIFE'S MURDER
STUNS OFFICERHomecoming of Overseas
Flier Shattered By Mystery Slaying

Pontiac, Mich., Nov. 6 (AP)—Tall and erect Capt. Franklin Young, of the Army Air Forces heard with trembling lips and clenched fists today the story of the slaying of his wife, Alberta Rose, attractive former war plant worker.

The flying officer, who arrived here after hasty flights from Paris to Washington and thence to Detroit, appeared near tears after being informed by officers of the tragedy which ruined his homecoming from overseas service.

The body of his wife, 33, a bullet wound in her head, was found in the Clinton river last Wednesday, and investigators have worked in vain to solve the mystery of her slaying. Her killer apparently had thrown her from a bridge.

Capt. Young, who drove here from Detroit with a brother, Bernard, said the first he knew of his wife's death was upon reading about it in the army paper Stars and Stripes in France last Saturday. He told of having had "implicit faith" in her.

The bank book of his wife, once showing deposits of $3,300, has been used by police in attempting to find a clue to her slaying. Withdrawals over the past year had reduced her balance to $1.69.

Capt. Young said he had sent his wife $5,000 over the period he was overseas.

Four Big Holding Companies Ordered
Dissolved In Japan

BY MORRIS LANDSBERG
Tokyo, Nov. 6 (AP)—A drastic Allied command directive today dissolved Japan's four gigantic business-industrial dynasties in a move to smash the nation's war-making ability and encourage enterprise along peaceful, democratic lines.

These holding companies long had dominated Japanese business and industry and Allied headquarters promised there would be further action to overhaul the nation's cartel-controlled economy.

Immediate effect of this trust-smashing action will be to strip the four leading Zaibatsu families of their elaborate interlocking control on the multi-billion yen industrial empire ruled by the Mitsubishi, Sumitomo and Yasuda holding companies.

Drunkometer Used
By Detroit Police
To Test The Topsy

Detroit, Nov. 6 (AP)—The drunkometer, a machine which determines the alcoholic content of the blood, will be installed at police headquarters Friday, Superintendent Siska announced today.

Hereafter, in a drunk driving case, the lieutenants, sergeants and registering policemen will no longer be required to go to court to testify. Only the arresting policeman and the drunkometer operators will be required.

In cases where vehicle drivers have been injured, special provision has been made for giving drunkometer tests in hospitals.

New Site Proposed
For Michigan Fair

Lansing, Nov. 6 (AP)—Members of a state fair study committee have been made for moving the state fair from Detroit here called by State Agriculture Director Charles Fyfe to confer here Wednesday.

Fyfe said representatives from Lansing, Flint, Grand Rapids, Clare and other communities proposing a new site for the fair had been invited to the meeting. The fair, cancelled because of the war, is expected to be resumed next year.

Government officials explained that the harsh terms were drawn up when Italy was merely a defeated enemy, but the relaxing process was accelerated as that nation became a "co-belligerent" of the Allies and stepped up its war effort against its former German partner.

The original terms signed September 3, 1943, were more sweeping and detailed than those meted out to the former German satellite nations of Romania, Bulgaria and Hungary. They gave the Allies complete control over all phases of Italy's military, economic and political life.

CAPITAL STRIKE
KNOTS TRAFFICBuses And Street Cars
Paralyzed; Bicycles
And Horses Used

Washington, Nov. 6 (AP)—A strike that paralyzed the capital's bus and street car service and kept thousands of government workers from their jobs continued tonight, although both sides agreed to attend conciliation talks.

At a tumultuous "continuous meeting" which began before dawn, the drivers voted tonight to send a three-man committee to sit in with government conciliators tomorrow. Officials of the capital Transit Company indicated they would be present also.

Among the hundreds of thousands affected by the strike were delegates to President's Truman's labor-formula conference, called to write a national peace formula for industry and labor.

Scenes on the capital's streets included: A naval officer pedaling a bicycle with a government stenographer in a basket on the handlebars; a negro riding to work on horse back, and a youth zigzagging down broad Sixteenth street on roller skates he obviously hadn't used for years.

The workers want a 30-cent an hour increase in the driver-operator top rate of 95 cents an hour. The company countered with an offer of 27 cents more during the life of a contract which runs until June 7.

War Veteran Named
Senator To Succeed
Delano, 6th District

Kalamazoo, Nov. 6 (AP)—Colonel John W. Fletcher of Centerville, a veteran of both World Wars, was elected state senator from the Sixth district Tuesday to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Carl F. Delano.

A Republican, Fletcher defeated his Democratic opponent, Dr. George Huff, a Kalamazoo chiropractor, by polling 7,603 votes to Huff's 3,127.

The district is composed of Kalamazoo and St. Joseph counties, and Centerville is the county seat of the latter.

Delano resigned after he was convicted on a legislative bribery charge and a special election was ordered to fill the vacancy.

CIO CANDIDATE
LATE RETURNSMAYOR COMES BACK STRONG IN BID
FOR 4TH TERM

Detroit, Nov. 6 (AP)—Mayor Edward J. Jeffries tonight swept into a 13,982 vote lead in Detroit's mayoralty election after wiping out the early margin piled up by Richard T. Frankenstein, United Auto Workers (CIO) vice president. Jeffries at one time trailed by more than 14,000 votes.

Frankenstein, who had strong support from the CIO's Political Action Committee, drew a heavy vote from the early reporting areas populated by UAW members and other CIO unionists.

Jeffries, making a bid for his fourth consecutive term, had 191,889 to Frankenstein's 177,907 in returns from 900 of the city's 1,136 precincts.

An estimated 510,000 voters flocked to the polls in the bitterly contested election in which the CIO-PAC played a leading role.

Incumbent Jeffries centered his fire on the PAC and "outside interests" during his campaign.

The voting, on a non-partisan basis, developed no political trends. With Frankenstein, vice-president of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) contesting for the $15,000-a-year mayoralty post, it was regarded as a test of the political strength of that organization in this great industrial center.

Mayor Jeffries turned back a UAW-CIO challenge for the mayoralty in 1943, when he defeated Frank Fitzgerald by 32,560 votes. Seeking his fourth term, the mayor asserted in this campaign that his success depended upon the "great unorganized majority of voters."

BURKE STAYS IN
Cleveland, Nov. 6 (AP)—Thomas A. Burke, former city law director who became mayor of Cleveland in January when Frank J. Lausche was inaugurated governor of Ohio, was elected today to succeed himself by one of the largest percentages ever given a Cleveland mayoralty candidate.

Returns from 975 of the city's 989 voting places gave Burke 124,094 to 58,812 for his Republican opponent, Councilman Ray C. Miller, election officials reported tonight.

Miller conceded defeat and in a statement declared:

"My desire at this time to offer my hearty congratulations to Tom Burke, the new mayor of Cleveland. Go to it Tom, you have all Cleveland with you."

In his first campaign for the city's top office Burke came very close to the all-time records for vote getting in Cleveland set by Gov. Lausche and the late President Roosevelt. Observers estimated his total would exceed 70 per cent of the vote cast.

REPUBLICANS TAKE TWO
New Haven, Conn., Nov. 6 (AP)—Republicans captured Hartford and New Haven, Connecticut's two biggest cities, in municipal elections today while Socialists and Democrats divided honors in two other cities.

The elections brought to an end the fourteen-year Democratic reign of Mayor John W. Murphy.

CHECKUP MADE ON TOKYO RULE

Advisory Commission To Receive Report From MacArthur's Office

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Washington, Nov. 6 (P)—The Far Eastern advisory commission, representing all major allies of Asia and the Pacific except Russia, arranged today to receive a report on General Douglas MacArthur's administration of the affairs of conquered Japan.

Maj. John H. Hilldring, war department civil affairs chief, will give a "clear picture," as one official put it, of MacArthur's administration to date. While this was being decided in a conference room of the state department, Foreign Commissar Molotov was telling a festive crowd in Moscow that so far no satisfactory method of the joint control of Japan had been arrived at by the Allied powers.

Whatever the differences, they are sufficiently great to have spread out the argument for more than six weeks and pending the settlement Russia has not sent a representative to the advisory commission meeting.

Today's session, at which representatives of 10 nations were present, as the second held thus far. The delegates went to work quickly, electing Maj. Gen. Frank R. McCoy as permanent chairman and former Ambassador Nelson T. Johnson, one-time U. S. envoy to China, as secretary general.

Chinese Negotiate With Reds To Land Troops In Manchuria

BY SPENCER MOOSA

Chungking, Nov. 6 (P)—A dispatch from Yinkow, Manchuria, today reported that a Chinese government representative and Soviet authorities were negotiating for the landing of Chinese nationalist troops in Manchuria from ships of the U. S. Seventh Fleet.

The dispatch, quoted Gen. Tu Yu-Ming, who will command the Chinese peace preservation corps in Manchuria, as saying the Russians had agreed to guarantee safe landing of Chinese troops at Yinkow. Tu said they were unable to give the same assurance for their entry into Tatungkow "owing to the smallness of the Russian forces" there.

The Russians, however, told him the Chinese could land wherever they wished after the Russians withdrew, but that any landings at Dairen or Port Arthur would have to be approved by Moscow.

The dispatch stated the Russians were supposed to have begun withdrawal from points south of Mukden Nov. 25 by midnight Dec. 2, all Russian troops will have been withdrawn, it added.

Norse Geologists Plan Expedition

New York—Return of science in Norway to normal conditions is signalled by arrangements now being made for a geological research expedition into a high mountain area in the central part of the country, to study records left in the rocks and soil by the waning remnants of the last great Ice Age glacier. A communication to this effect has just been received here by the Geological Society of America from Dr. Knarve Munster Strom, president of the Geological Society of Norway.

The expedition, which will be in the field from about June 25 to July 5, will be under Dr. Strom's leadership. The size of the party will have to be limited because of lack of shelter in the rugged mountain country, but two or three American geologists may be included.

Lice Bother Cows Less In Summer

Ithaca, N. Y.—Contrary to what might be expected, cattle lice are less troublesome in summer than in winter. Studies by agricultural scientists at Cornell University here suggest that summer heat is the answer.

In the barn the skin temperature of a cow stays down around 90 degrees Fahrenheit, but when she goes out into direct summer sunlight her hide may have a surface temperature as high as 125 degrees. No louse can stand such hot weather for long. They all die except a few hardy and well-protected stragglers who take refuge in the cow's ears, or on some continuously shaded area on her underside.

These few manage to hold on until the herd goes back into the barn in the fall. Then they begin to raise big families, and by mid-winter they are grandparents in a big way.

HEARING MOVED UP

NEW PLASTIC MADE IN TEXAS

Forticel Produced From Cellulose And Natural Gas

New York—More lustrous, faster to mold, odorless and tough, a new plastic made from natural gas and wood has been introduced to commerce here by Celanese Plastics Corporation.

Named Forticel, it is made from cellulose and propionic acid. It was merely a laboratory product until Celanese chemists developed a new process for producing propionic acid for the first time in this country from natural gases in commercial quantities at reasonable prices.

The process is in operation now at the company's new chemical plant at Bishop, Texas. While present production is limited to a small pilot plant, a steady moderate production of Forticel by next January is to be followed by large-scale production as soon as plans already approved for this purpose can be carried out.

Forticel is the culmination of years of intensive research devoted to the study of scores of chemical combinations developed by introducing organic acid or alcohol radicals into the cellulose molecular chain. Of all the cellulose compounds produced Forticel has in the opinion of Celanese chemists, the best balance of desirable characteristics.

Landslide Victory Won By Tuck For Virginia Governor

Richmond, Va., Nov. 6 (P)—William M. Tuck, of South Boston, Va., long a stalwart leader in the Virginia Democratic organization headed by United States Senator Harry F. Byrd, was elected governor of Virginia today by a landslide victory of better than two to one over two opponents.

With 1,454 out of the state's 1,716 precincts reported, Tuck had received 102,922 votes to 46,831 for State Senator S. Floyd Landreth, Galax lawyer and banker and Republican candidate, and 3,902 for Howard Carville, Richmond lawyer who ran as an independent. Additional returns were not expected to change the percentages materially.

Tuck, who campaigned on the record of the Democratic party in Virginia, has been closely identified with the dominant Byrd organization during his 22 years in public office—as a member of the house of delegates, state senator and lieutenant governor.

The entire Democratic statewide ticket rode into office along with Tuck.

FEELERS SENT TO INDONESIANS

Dutch Offer Partnership; Natives Want Complete Independence

BY RALPH MORTON

Batavia, Java, Nov. 6 (P)—The Dutch disclosed today an offer to Indonesians of "partnership" in the Netherlands empire to end the strife in the East Indies, but Indonesian leaders indicated they would hold out for complete independence.

Java still remained tense, and renewed street fighting with machineguns, rifles and grenades broke out in Batavia.

The Dutch plan, presented to Nationalist leaders last week, was published today despite a warning by President Soekarno of the "Indonesian Republic" to Acting Governor General Hubertus J. Van Mook that it might result in increased tension.

Major points in the Dutch plan were:

Indonesia would be invited to become a full partner in the empire, which would be reorganized as a commonwealth.

The government of the East Indies would be "reconstructed by legal process in such a way that it will consist of a democratic representative body, with a substantial majority of Indonesian members and a council of ministers under the governor general."

Racial equality would be established, and room made "for the development of business of every size for all racial groups."

A strong armed force would be organized, with all races contributing their support.

Industry To Give Free Training To Returned Veterans

Lansing, Nov. 6 (P)—State approval was virtually assured today for a veterans' industrial institute through which John Haien, of Ann Arbor, Chrysler corporation official, has offered to provide free training in industrial management for ambitious discharged servicemen.

After a conference today with Haien and Lieut. Col. Philip C. Pack, director of the state office of veterans affairs, Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, state superintendent of public instruction, declared Haien would apply for licensing as a training institute and then would be approved as a veterans' school under the federal G. I. Bill of Rights.

Pack said Haien's school would be known as the "Beacon Institute," would admit only veterans, would cost the state nothing, and planned to handle a group of 50 students each month for a six months course. No educational prerequisites will be required, he said.

Describing the plan as "one of the most important and generous things ever to come to us," Pack said Haien has started building the institute in Ann Arbor with the aid of business associates. He said instruction would be offered in industrial management, sales, corporation organization, finance, laboratory methods and similar subjects to outfit men for jobs in management and supervisory classes.

Kalamazoo, Nov. 6 (P)—Henry Ford is the new mayor of Kalamazoo—but his business is law and not automobiles. As a result, he succeeds to the mayoralty held by Louis W. Sutherland, who was not a candidate for re-election.

Release Data On Navigation Aids

Washington—ANRAC is the newest addition to the now-it-can-be-told family of electronic devices developed during the war that are being put to peacetime uses. ANRAC is a system for turning on and off such aids to navigation as unmanned light-houses, light buoys, foghorns and electric bell strikers by means of a set of coded radio signals sent out from a central control station. The word was coined from the initials of Aids Navigation Radio Control.

The system was installed by the U. S. Coast Guard at Pearl Harbor, Midway, sections of Alaska and certain islands in the South Pacific, as well as along both coasts of the continental United States, so that navigation aids could be turned on for the benefit of friendly vessels and shut off at other times to deny any involuntary aid to the enemy.

State Tax Commission Will Hear Value, Tax Rate Appeals Tomorrow

The Michigan state tax commission will meet in the court house at Escanaba at 10 a. m. tomorrow with the county board of supervisors to conduct a hearing on appeals on county equalized valuations and on county tax allocations.

Louis M. Nims is chairman of the commission, Robert H. Marsh and Clarence L. LaChance are members, and Arthur E. Hagen is secretary.

The hearing on the appeals is expected to result in important decisions which will vitally effect the financial situation of the county, the schools and the townships. This will be true particularly in the light of a recent opinion of the Michigan supreme court, in which it was ruled that school and township taxes must be levied on property valuations as equalized.

Ten Were Increased

It has been the experience of counties in the past that when the state tax commission is called in by appeal to equalize valuations between the townships and cities, the total equalized value has been increased. With the ruling of the supreme court, the schools and townships as well as the county will have higher valuations on which to levy taxes.

The appeal to the state tax commission was made last June by Supervisor Peter N. Logan of Escanaba, who voted against accepting the report of the equalization committee of the county board. It was Sup. Logan's contention that equalization as made by the county board was not based on true cash values as required by law, and that equalization was not therefore made on a fair basis.

Four townships and the city of Escanaba had no increase made in their assessed valuations for equalization purposes, while the city of Gladstone and 10 townships were given increases totaling $462,968.

Will Go Over Rolls

Sup. Logan in 1944 had warned the county board that unless assessment and equalization was placed "on a more fair and equitable basis" he would appeal to the state tax commission.

This year that appeal was made and the state tax commission in meeting last month reported that it had examined Logan's petition and that it appeared "a showing has been made to the effect that the equalization complained of in said petition is unfair, inequitable and discriminatory."

The state tax commission has ordered all supervisors and city assessors to be present at tomorrow's meeting and to bring with them the assessment rolls of their townships or cities. They will also be called upon to give evidence in relation to the equalization of the county.

For the past several weeks the tax commission has had inspectors busy in the cities and townships spot checking property valuations to determine the basis on which equalization should be made. It is considered likely that the supervisors, as assessors, will be questioned concerning the methods they use in arriving at the figures on their assessment rolls.

County Board Figures

Last June the county board adopted, with Sup. Logan casting the only dissenting vote, the following figures for equalization purposes:

Township or City	Assessed Value	Equalized Value
Baldwin	$336,425	$336,425
Bark River	608,650	618,647
Bay de Noc	150,475	150,475
Brampton	147,935	153,355
Cornell	494,880	524,175
Escanaba	575,600	659,600
Ensign	160,875	160,875
Fairbanks	220,300	228,800
Ford River	381,275	436,120
Garden	314,400	325,700
Maple Ridge	336,150	336,150
Masonville	326,425	339,275
Nahma	576,464	583,820
Wells	2,112,605	2,218,225
Escanaba city	9,222,515	9,222,515
Gladstone city	1,914,805	2,048,600

TOTALS $17,879,779 $18,342,747

Following the hearing on the appeal from the county board's equalization figures, the state tax commission will hear an appeal on tax allocation. This is scheduled for 1:30 o'clock.

Allocation Appeal

The appeal on tax allocation was filed by the finance committee of the county board of supervisors, which held that a reduced tax rate for the county, and a higher tax rate for the schools, was not supported by budgetary requirements. The tax millage rates are established by the county tax allocation commission.

Last spring the commission reduced the county tax rate from 7 to 6.1 mills, and increased the schools from 7.9 to 8.8 mills. The county has a mounting deficit and the reduction would further increase their indebtedness.

Should the equalized value of the county be increased by state tax commission order, however, both the county and the schools would benefit from increased tax revenue.

The men at the Buck returned to work late Saturday afternoon, a few hours after the CIO Verona local and company officials settled a dispute concerning four surface workers. As there is no afternoon or night shift at the James, the men in that mine returned to work this morning.

On the payroll at the Buck, one of the largest in the county, there are some 350 men; at the James, 75.

Escanabans Hurt In Auto Collision

Six persons were injured in one accident, and a motorist was arrested for drunken driving as the result of another in Menominee county Sunday evening. The accidents occurred at 6 p. m. at the height of the snowfall.

Mike Rennes, 354 west Front street, Peshtigo, suffered fractured collarbone and rib fractures. He was riding with his wife, Catherine 46, who incurred a bruised hip when the car she was driving on highway US-41 in Menominee township skidded and collided with a car driven by Andrew C. Johnson, 57, Escanaba bank teller. Johnson's nose was cut.

Also injured in the Johnson car were Miss Ruth Johnson, a cut over her left eye; Kurt Kickbush, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Kickbush, Escanaba, cut inside the mouth and Mrs. Kickbush, bruises on face and swollen ankle.

The Menominee sheriff's department, which investigated the accident, said Mrs. Rennes drove off the road and in attempting to get back on the car skidded and swung sidewise.

Rennes is at St. Joseph's hospital. The others were treated there and released.

SUBS DETECTED BY RADIO BUOYS

Floating Electronic Device Changed Sounds Into Radio Waves

Washington—The story of the development of sono-radio buoys, that located Nazi submarines under the waters of the Atlantic and guided Allied destroyers to the spot for the kill, can now be told.

Visual and radar sighting served well as long as the enemy U-boats stayed on the surface but were of no value when the subs remained under water. The sono-radio buoy gave the airplane ears to hear, locate, and to follow a submerged U-boat.

The warned airplane could itself attack or call destroyers to the spot.

By relaying subsurface noises to the plane, the sono-radio buoy also made it possible to know the outcome of the attack. Sometimes the propeller beat of the U-boat as it fled the scene could be heard. Sometimes ominous break-up noises followed by silence testified to the death of the sub.

The sono-radio buoy, according to Dr. John T. Tate of the National Defense Research Committee was a development of Division 6 of that committee, carried out under contract with Columbia University, Division of War Research, at the U. S. Navy Underwater Sound Laboratory at New London, Conn.

"The sono-radio buoy," Dr. Tate states, "was not a flash of genius springing from the brow of an inventor. Rather it was one of the results of purposefully bringing a group of trusted scientists and engineers into intimate and continuing contact with the progress and problems of U-boat warfare as it developed in the Atlantic."

Nahma Girl Scouts Hear Mrs. D'Amour

Nahma, Mich.—Nahma Girl Scouts heard Mrs. E. A. D'Amour of Gladstone, present the International Friendship plan adopted by the Girl Scouts of America, at their regular meeting Monday evening Nov. 5.

Last Monday evening, Oct. 29, the Nahma Girl Scouts drove to Gladstone and attended the rally, which was held in the Gladstone high school gym.

There are thirty registered Girl Scouts in Nahma, ranging from ten to sixteen years of age. Last summer the troop had a week's camping at Timber Trail, where they occupied one of the units and took care of their cooking and activities as a Lone Troop. The girls are looking forward to a similar experience during the summer of 1946.

Miss Betty Hruska was elected leader for the troop and Miss Peggy Phalen, treasurer, at the last regular meeting.

The troop meets every Monday evening at 7:30 p. m. in the Nahma school building. Most of the girls are second class Scouts and are now doing badge work for their first class.

The St. Anne's Altar Society will hold its regular meeting on Nov. 6 in the town hall building.

Need Formula for Peace

THE president has warned delegates at the labor-management conference that they must find a formula for industrial peace in the United States, a demand in which the entire nation will concur. The tide of strikes and threatened strikes is running so strong that it seriously jeopardizes the country's entire reconversion program.

While all America cries out for new automobiles, new refrigerators, new washers, new farm implements, new homes and new just about anything else you can name, the wheels of industry are gummed up in labor strife.

The nation has cause to hope that responsible representatives of labor and industry, seated around a conference table, can discuss their issues with sincerity and reason, and primarily with a determination to find a pattern for industrial peace.

And yet the conference has opened with small evidence of mutual understanding. Labor chiefs are pointing an accusing finger at employers are unresponsive to the workers' dilemma, and employers are insisting that the conference find a basis for industrial peace without considering the basic issues over which the threatened strikes have developed.

Thus far, the government itself has contributed little towards the establishment of an acceptable formula. It is one thing to demand industrial peace and quite another thing to provide the leadership that will be required to bring together these two divergent viewpoints.

We Hope So

THE Japanese people will learn much from their defeat at the hands of the Allies and association with American occupation troops. Dr. Sadaji Takagi, eminent psychologist of Tokyo Imperial university, believes.

The professor points out that the Japanese people were deluded, apparently by the militarists, into thinking that Japan was the strongest nation in the world. They were also fed much propaganda which led them to believe that American soldiers were barbarians, all of which they have since learned to be untrue.

Adept imitators that they are, the Japanese are quickly learning American ways. The girls are becoming proficient jitterbugs. A huge jitney dance enterprise has been started by the Japanese in Tokyo, where lonesome GI's are spending their money and having a lot of fun. Apparently, our soldiers are also losing their one-time bitter hatred for the Japs.

The turn of affairs in Japan gives a good idea of how jingoistic governments and their propagandists can sow distrust, hatred and misunderstanding among whole nations of people, who down in their hearts prefer peace to war.

Progressive Step

THE decision of the Michigan supreme court, holding that all county and local property taxes must be levied on equalized valuations, is a victory for those who seek to bring up to date the state's antiquated property assessment and taxation laws.

What the decision means is this: That school and township taxes, as well as county taxes, will in future be levied on equalized valuation as established by the county board of supervisors. In the past only county taxes were levied on the equalized valuation, while school and township taxes were levied on the assessed valuation as established by township and city boards of review.

In the past this has meant that the county has received the benefit taxes levied on a valuation much higher than that established for the schools and the townships. It is obviously inconsistent with fair and equitable tax procedure to have two valuation figures for the same piece of property. Now the law will recognize but one figure—the equalized figure established by the county board.

The fact that the state association of supervisors opposed the one-figure valuation is revealing of the political aspects inherent in our out-moded property assessment system. No longer will the supervisor, as assessing officer, and the township board of review, have absolute authority over the valuation figure on which school and township taxes were levied. In some townships the schools have been in a serious financial plight as a result of the two-figure valuation policy.

The supreme court apparently made a decision on the sensible conclusion that if county government needs a higher valuation on which to levy taxes for operation, the schools should be given an equal opportunity for tax revenue.

Make Last One Good!

DELTA county's quota in the Victory Loan drive has been set at $977,000, a goal which should not be difficult to attain when one considers the success of previous campaigns and the fact that the people are still as financially able to invest in these gilt-edge bonds.

While the war is over, there is as much as need as ever for public support of the bond sales drive. The government's financing problems are not over, and the threat of inflation is greater now than ever. There are still not enough civilian goods to meet the public demand, creating a dangerous situation when there is so much surplus cash available for extravagant spending.

Victory bonds are among the best investments that can be made by the public nowadays. The persons who buy them are benefiting themselves as well as serving their country. Let's put the bond drive over the top in a hurry. Here's a chance to be patriotic and smart at the same time.

Newton's "Paul Bunyan"

WORD comes that Stanley D. Newton of Sault Ste. Marie, for many years publicity writer for the U. P. Development Bureau, has a new Paul Bunyan book on the fire that is due for spring issue in 1946.

None is better qualified for the job of writing Paul's life than Newton. He has had an intimate acquaintance with dozens of lumberjacks, and he probably knows their lingo in a way impossible to any other writer, at least since James Stevens' time, back in the twenties.

Now and then a Bunyan book for children is issued, but this one, if it is true to life, should have plenty of raw meat that adults expect when they think of the mighty Paul, Coudrough Sam, Big Ole, the Blacksmith, and Babe, the Big Blue Ox.

Paul Bunyan has never received the attention he deserves as a Michigan product. No doubt this will be remedied in the forthcoming book, since Stanley D. Newton has spent almost a whole lifetime boosting the Upper Peninsula and the rest of the state.

REMEDY AVAILABLE (New York Times)

The aluminum industry has been controlled by one large company. The Department of Justice has been seeking to break up this company for some time. Assistant Attorney General McGranery told the congressional committees that "competition will be established within the industry no matter what it takes." We have had a long history of trust busting. But throughout that history we have not adopted a national policy of subsidizing competitors such as is proposed. Nor have we attempted to break up monopolies on any such basis as suggested in the phrase, "no matter what it takes." In general, it has been held that bigness alone is not to be condemned.

Use of coercion, the development of unfair practices, and the maintenance of high prices have been among the tests of undesirable monopoly. Despite the domination by one company, aluminum prices have declined steadily through the years. This decline even continued during the war. Moreover, under modern technology, control over the supply of a commodity by one or few sellers does not give those sellers the power of life and death over their customers. Substitute products are an important factor in checking abuse. For most uses of aluminum there are substitute products available. These include plywood, light steels, plastics and other metals.

If it is established that undesirable effects upon our economy flow from the aluminum situation, we have the means of correcting them through the anti-trust acts. Government subsidization of competitors which inevitably would lead to a steadily larger drain on the Treasury and would furnish another form of government competition with private industry.

AID FOR AIRPORTS (Marquette Mining Journal)

The House and Senate have passed bills providing for Federal aid up to 50 per cent in the construction of airports. The principal difference between the bills now being considered in conference is the size of the appropriation.

Under the Senate bill 700 millions would be spent over a period of 10 years and under the House bill 375 millions over five years. The money would be allocated to states on the basis of population and area.

If the conference committee splits the difference, approximately 500 millions would be appropriated. Northern Michigan, it appears, would be eligible for something in the neighborhood of one million. It is not likely the Upper Peninsula cities or counties will rush into airport construction or expansion even if the Federal Government pays half the bill. Much money already has been spent on airports in the Peninsula, not all of it wisely.

There is no need for haste. Plenty of time should be taken in for exhaustive study and long-range planning. Nothing can be more useless than a misplaced airport or one with geographical limitations which prevent expansion to keep pace with changing requirements.

It may be assumed that the Government acting, through the Civil Aeronautics Authority of the Department of Commerce, will take measures to assure that its share of appropriations is well placed.

Take My Word For It . . . Frank Colby

IT'S HARD TO BELIEVE (Scrapbook Item)

Q. My English class would appreciate it if you'd "Colbyize" the word "school" for us. We'd like it for our scrapbook of your deftly written articles.

A. Students probably will offer some pretty violent rebuttal when it is pointed out that school literally is a place for the enjoyment of leisure time, or, to use a popular term, a loafing place. But that is precisely what the original Greek word, scholē, meant: "leisure; where leisure time may be employed."

The first schools of ancient Greece were not schools in the modern sense, nor were they organized in classes. The so-called "schools" were really masters or tutors of three kinds: (1) the grammatists who

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington—In his memorable speech in New York a week ago, General George C. Marshall warned the nation that what we are undergoing now is not demobilization. The far-flung power that we assembled during the years of the war is crumbling away so fast that it seems almost as though it had never existed.

It is hard to realize what this means. Take the air forces, for example.

This country built up the biggest and the most powerful air force in the world. At the peak it included nearly 2,500,000 officers and men who fought and flew and serviced more than a hundred thousand planes.

Today there is not a combat unit that could perform a single tactical mission. Not a single fighting unit is left intact.

The reason for this is obvious. The best pilots and the best gunners—the men around whom the units are built—are the high point men. They got out first.

By March 1 of next year the air forces will have less than 200,000 officers and men, of which less than 10 per cent will be skilled mechanics on the ground. This means, according to those who know best, that planes for which there are still pilots may be grounded, and the accident rate will certainly go up. Thus far, the air forces have turned over to the RFC for disposal 32,000 planes. Eventually, up to 90,000 army and navy planes will be junked.

The men responsible for our air forces are not thinking in terms of a huge post-war armada. But they are thinking of keeping a minimum air strength that will enable this country to live up to its world responsibilities.

—NEED LONG-RANGE BOMBERS—

To implement the security provisions of the San Francisco charter, as our airmen see it, we should have 1,000 long-range bombers. An adequate accompanying fighter force would include 1500 fighter planes.

The air forces is trying to keep up to minimum strength through enlistments. But this is difficult to do for various reasons. The volunteer, having a choice of an 18-month enlistment or a three-year enlistment, naturally takes the shorter term since he can reconsider his status at the end of a year.

It takes a year to train highly skilled air forces personnel. Those already in the service who sign up for an additional year get a three-month furlough, which means that they are available for only nine months. Putting a complicated technical service together on this basis is almost an impossibility.

Unhappily, the political situation in Congress is calculated to prolong the disintegration. There is a kind of log jam which can be broken only by action from the very top.

President Truman has declared himself on universal military training. All three services—Army, Navy and Air—are agreed on that, although there are important individuals who have doubts. It would not, for example, supply the needs of the air forces where longer training is essential.

—NAVY OPPOSES UNIFICATION—
But the President has not taken a stand on unification of the services under a single civilian head. The navy, with its powerful lobby both in and out of uniform, is opposed to unification. Although informal surveys indicate a sufficient majority in both houses for unifying the services, the navy manages to keep the question stirred up.

All major decisions on our future military strength are thus held in a state of suspension. Priceless time is being lost. Irretrievable combinations of strength are being broken up.

Congress is reluctant to face up to the universal training issue. It is being pushed into the background. Next year is an election year. What is worrying responsible military men is that the present period of delay and uncertainty will be projected into 1946 under the shadow of the universal training dilemma.

The rest of the world is watching closely. They see Uncle Samson an involuntary victim of a heedless barber. He is being shorn of his strength while almost no one pauses to notice.

taught the three R's; (2) the citharistes, who taught the playing of and singing to the cithara (the great grand-daddy of the zither); (3) the paedotribes, who taught what modern youngsters call "physical Ed."

The athletic school, however, was for men and boys only, and later evolved into the gymnasium, so called because, in the hot climate, the students performed their exercises while naked (Greek gymnos, "naked").

These schools (or tutorings) were attended mostly by boys of patrician birth. Each boy would be taken to his school by a slave to whom was entrusted his young master's safety. Such a slave was called paedagogos, "boy leader or guide," the word which gives us the modern word pedagogue, "a teacher or schoolmaster."

Thus we see that, in the original schools, pupils had a pretty soft time of it, because, for one thing, there were no textbooks, no home work, and, apparently, no written exams. (Loud groans of, "Oh, for the good old days!")

Also, Young America, do you know why you are called pupils? The word is from the Latin pupilla, "a little girl or boy." How then can you have a pupil in your eye? Well, look closely into the eye of one of your classmates. What do you see reflected in the cornea? Why, a tiny image of yourself, looking for all the world like an inconceivably small boy or girl, as the case may be.

Yes, that is precisely the reason for saying that we have pupils in our eyes. It's hard to believe, but it's true.

Class dismissed.

It Was Too Good to Be True

Good Morning!

THEATER BY-PLAY—At the theater Sunday night a group of sailors from the U. S. Navy submarine Mero settled themselves in their seats a half-hour before the film started.

The Mero, as you perhaps know, is touring Great Lakes ports in the interest of the current Victory Bond drive.

The sailors were handsome, healthy and full of traditional Navy spirit—and a keen appreciation for attractive girls. In one row of seats the sailors had two empty seats between them. The theater was filling rapidly.

The theater was crowded even at that early hour. Two pretty girls started back up the aisle looking for seats, not wishing to sit so far down in front. The sailors, as if by a prearranged signal, separated so there were two seats for two girls among four sailors.

While the sailors waited expectantly, the girls found other seats—and the seats between the sailors were filled by an elderly gentleman and his wife who could not understand the merriment they had caused.

Incidentally, the film was "Our Vines Have Tender Grapes," based on a story of Wisconsin farm life written by George Victor Martin, who spent last summer at Nahma. The story was gripping and suspenseful, held the attention alike of city folks, farmers and sailors off a submarine.

FIRST AND LAST — T. C. "Tim" Curran of 507 South Ninth street retired as an engineer for the C & NW Railroad last Wednesday after 44 years of service. With Tim as fireman on his last trip was Leo Laviolette of 401 South 11th street. Coincidence is that Leo's first trip on the road as a C & NW employee when he started railroading in 1913 was with Tim Curran.

BEAUTIFUL SNOW — Delta county's first ground-covering snowfall came Sunday afternoon—and it brought a thrill to 12-year-old Tommy Powers of Escanaba such as few boys his age have experienced. For it was the first time in his life that Tommy had seen a snowstorm.

Tommy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Powers of Temple City (near Los Angeles) Calif., and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Powers of 612 South 12th street, with whom he is spending the winter. The Powers family, with Tommy, came to Escanaba last fall, and left Tommy here with his grandparents so he might enjoy a northern winter—with snow. He is a Junior high school student.

The sudden flurry of snow that covered the ground with a white blanket nearly set Tommy wild with enthusiasm. He had made snowballs only once before in his life, when a car covered with snow came to Temple City from the California mountains. Now he made snowballs by the dozen, exclaiming that the storm "looks just like it does in the pictures."

Prior to the snowstorm Tommy saw no need for mittens, mufflers, overcoats and heavy winter clothing. Monday he was prepared to go shopping for those essentials. What surprised his grandmother was that Tommy had to be taught how to brush the snow off his clothes, a knack that other children learn at an early age in this northern climate.

While the crowd roared its enthusiasm, the man asked his wife the name of the team member who had excited his curiosity. She told him the name, but that did not seem to enlighten him much. Waiting until the yelling had ebbed, and forgetting it was no longer necessary to shout to be heard, the lady said in a loud voice:

HE HAS INVESTED —There is a young gentleman in Escanaba who has invested heavily in the future of the United States. He is Tommy Gasman, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gasman of 204 North 19th street.

Just the other day, at the start of the last and biggest Victory Bond drive, Tommy purchased a $100 bond—bringing his total bond investments in this war to a total of $725. He has been buying bonds since he was 10 years old based on his earnings in selling newspapers. Until one year ago he also sold magazines.

Altogether he has purchased 25 bonds: One $100 bond, one $50 bond and 23 bonds of the $25 denomination. Many other children may have more money in bonds in their names, but it is doubtful there is another who has purchased them with his own earnings. Tommy still has one brother in service (he expects to be home soon), and one brother has already been discharged.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Washington—In Monday's column it was revealed that the army board probing Pearl Harbor had written a supplemental report marked "Top Secret," not hitherto published. Among other things it discloses that a secret Jap message was received and decoded on November 20, 1941, two weeks before Pearl Harbor. The decoded message read if Tokyo broadcast the phrase "East Wind Rain" it was to mean war with the United States at any moment. "West Wind Clear" was to mean war with Great Britain.

This "Winds" message is part of the file which Republican members of the Pearl Harbor committee claim is missing. Six copies of the decoded "Winds" message were made and distributed to different branches of the government, but the original copy made by the navy has disappeared from the files, and some insiders now contend that this advance warning never was received.

The "Winds" message in navy file "No. 7001," contained the logs of three navy monitoring stations which tuned in on Jap short-wave broadcasts. This entire file has disappeared.

—ARMY'S SECRET HISTORY—

However, ample information remains in the files to get an all-too-clear picture of what happened inside the war-navy departments when the advance Jap warning was received. It is given in detail in the secret report of the army's Pearl Harbor investigating committee.

On December 4, three days before Pearl Harbor, Tokyo sent out the "Winds" message notifying Jap embassies and all Jap ships that war would come any moment. Rear Admiral Leigh Noyes, Chief of the Naval Communications Section, phoned this information to Col. Otis K. Sadtler of Army Intelligence at 9:30 a. m. December 5.

Colonel Sadtler immediately notified Gen. Sherman Miles, head of Military Intelligence and Col. R. S. Bratton, Army Intelligence expert on the Far East. The secret army report then states that Sadtler was instructed to call Admiral Noyes back and get the exact text of the "Winds" message. However, Noyes refused to talk to him.

The Admiral explained that he was in conference and "too busy," but would attend to the matter later.

"That may be too late," Colonel Sadtler frantically reported to General Miles. Miles promptly contacted Gen. Leonard Gerow, Chief of War Plans Division, suggesting that army leaders in Hawaii be advised at once of the Jap war messages. Colonel Sadtler also talked to General Gerow, stating: "War is coming and coming quickly."

However, he got nowhere. General Gerow took the position that military chiefs at Hawaii already had "plenty of information."

—PEARL HARBOR WARNED—

In this connection it should be noted that on November 27, one week before, Adm. Husband Kimmel in Pearl Harbor had received a message reading: "This dispatch is to be considered a war warning. Negotiations with Japan have ceased and an aggressive move by Japan is expected within the next few days." A similar warning had been sent to General Short by the War Department. Other warnings had been sent on Nov. 28 and Nov. 30. This was why the Roberts report pinned the blame on Short and Kimmel.

Meanwhile in Washington, the secret army report reveals that another ominous Jap war message was intercepted. This was a note from Tokyo to its Berlin embassy for transmission to Hitler. Sent on November 30, the message assured Hitler of continued cooperation and characterized as "insulting" Secretary Hull's final peace proposal of November 28 requiring the Japs to break with the Axis and remove their troops from China. The message to Hitler further stated that the United States considered Japan, "along with Germany and Italy, as an enemy."

Colonel Sadtler next appealed to Col. Bedell Smith, now a Lieutenant General on General Eisenhower's staff in Germany, but then secretary to the general staff and right-hand man to Chief of Staff Marshall.

Smith also was unresponsive to suggestions that further warnings be given army leaders in Pearl Harbor, according to the secret army report. When he learned that the matter already had been taken up with the War Plans Division, he "declined to discuss the matter further."

Finally Colonels Sadtler and Bratton induced General Gerow of the War Plans Division to have naval intelligence in Washington inform naval chiefs in Pearl Harbor of the recent messages with the idea that the navy in turn would inform General Short. However, this round-the-bush scheme never went through.

Reason behind this involved plan, presumably, was the fact that Admiral Kimmel, not General Short, was responsible for the main defense of Pearl Harbor. Under army-navy rules, army planes were not permitted to fly out over the water from Pearl Harbor more than 100 miles and it was up to the navy to do long-range scouting for the enemy. Admiral Kimmel, despite the war warning given him on November 28, was not sending out scouting planes.

BOOST POWER AT PAPER MILL

Large Steam Boiler And 2500 KW Turbine To Be Installed

A new steam boiler of 450 pounds pressure delivering 150,000 pounds per hour, complete with a 2500 kw turbine, will be installed at the Escanaba Paper company next year, E. G. Bennett, vice-president, revealed yesterday.

The new boiler and steam turbine with the existing power equipment at the mill will provide a capacity of 13,000 kw of electricity, sufficient to meet the paper mill's power requirements, including its planned expansion, and the growing electrical needs of the City of Escanaba, as well.

In operation at the present time is a steam boiler of 450 pounds pressure, producing 100,000 pounds per hour and four boilers of 175 pounds pressure each.

A new building to house the new steam boiler will be constructed adjacent to the present boiler house. The construction of the building will begin in the spring and it is planned to have the new power equipment in operation by November, 1946.

Joseph J. Patrick, chief engineer, and A. A. Wadewitz, former chief engineer of the paper company, have returned from Chillicothe, Ohio where the power plant project was authorized by officials of the Mead Corporation, parent company of the Escanaba Paper company.

Colmar Blood, Fire Gave 63rd Its Test

Easily the most awesome of divisional nicknames is that of the 63rd Infantry Division, which goes by the name of "Blood and Fire." The nickname was lifted from the text of the resolution of the Allies at the Casablanca Conference to make the enemies "bleed and burn in expiation of their crimes against humanity." The shoulder patch of the 63rd features flames and a blood-tipped dagger.

The men of the 63rd had their first chance at the Germans in the closing weeks of 1944. One regiment—the 254th—made a particularly auspicious debut. Attached to the Third Infantry Division during the savage fight for the Colmar bridgehead, the 254th received a unit citation for outstanding performance of duty, helping to cut off Colmar from the Rhine in what has been described as "one of the hardest and bloodiest campaigns of the war."

In February, the 63rd Infantry Division crossed the Saar north of Saarguemines, and led the Seventh Army back onto German soil, from which it had been forced to withdraw. A few weeks later, it smashed into the Siegfried Line. Early in April, the 63rd destroyed the 17th SS Division, crossed the Neckar River, and pushed the enemy back south of the Kocher River.

The 63rd followed relentlessly after the retreating Germans. The division chased the Nazis through Wurttemberg and Bavaria down to the Danube, crossed the river and moved down to Landsberg, at the edge of the Bavarian Alps.

At the end of March, the 63rd made a distinctive haul—the great university city of Heidelberg.

Sailor From Ensign Describes Typhoon

Ensign, Mich.—Word has been received from F. J. Gilbert Pomeroy by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Pomeroy of Ensign, that he is now safe in Japan. This is the first time they have heard from him since Sept. 28.

During this lapse of time, he has quite an experience in the Pacific area. He was aboard the USS Kearney during the recent typhoon. Part of his letter reads as follows:

"We did hit that typhoon out there, or rather it hit us. It broke 48 feet off our bow, and we had to cut all our guns and mast off to keep it from capsizing. Our boat was only 350 feet long to begin with, so we really got tossed around. Our little 'Peanut Shell' (as we call it) was standing on end most of the time.

"I can't understand how we ever got out of it. I didn't think I'd ever see Michigan or home again. But here we are in Wakayama with a lot to be thankful for. We won't be here long though, because we are going to northern Japan for patrol duty."

Do you feel headachy and upset due to poorly digested food? To feel cheerful and happy again your food must be digested properly.

Each day, Nature must produce about two pints of a vital digestive juice to help digest your food. If Nature fails, your food may remain undigested—leaving you headachy and irritable.

Therefore, you must increase the flow of this digestive juice. Carter's Little Liver Pills increase this flow quickly—often in as little as 30 minutes. And, you're on the road to feeling better.

This Year's Income Tax Unchanged By Reductions

By S. BURTON HEATH
NEA Staff Correspondent

Washington—Don't be in a hurry about spending those income tax rebates that some folks believe Congress is handing out. There won't be any. The Bureau of Internal Revenue wants it to be understood clearly that the return you must file before next March 15 will be based upon the same law as the return that you filed last March.

The new act, exempting some 12,000,000 persons from income tax payments and reducing the burden on everybody else, does not affect any income earned or received prior to next January 1.

The money withheld in your pay envelopes during 1945, for income tax purposes, represents what you had to pay on this year's earnings. It is not affected by the new law.

The final estimate due January 15 and the final return that must be filed by March 15, 1946, have nothing to do with your 1946 income, the tax on which is being reduced. They are merely checks to determine whether you still owe Uncle Sam on your 1945 income, or whether you have overpaid, so that he owes you.

The forms to be used for making March 15 returns were prepared and printed even before Congress had agreed upon the terms of the new law, and contain the tax rates and short-cut tables provided by the 1944 Act.

Treasury experts expect that, in spite of this and all other publicity given to the facts, many taxpayers will continue to be misinformed, and will expect to find reduced tax rates in use March 15 and will protest that they are being cheated.

So it is important for every earner to clarify his mind on what is happening. Keep clear:

in mind that, so far as taxes on your 1945 earnings are concerned the new law does not exist at all.

NEW TAX DON'TS

DON'T expect a lower rate of tax on your 1945 income.

DON'T imagine if your income is small, that you have suddenly become exempted from tax on what you earned this year.

DON'T expect that you will receive any rebate on the taxes withheld, because of the new tax law, that you would not have received under the old one.

SUB LEAVES IN EARLY MORNING

Clears From Escanaba On Trip That Will End
At Pearl Harbor

The navy submarine S. S. Mero, which thousands have seen since it docked at Escanaba Sunday, was scheduled to leave early this morning for stops at a few Lake Michigan ports and eventually to reach Pearl Harbor by way of the Chicago Canal, Mississippi river, the ocean and the Panama Canal.

In the final day the sub was open for public inspection yesterday afternoon and evening—hundreds of persons went aboard the 311-foot craft where it was docked at the Escanaba municipal pier.

From Escanaba the Mero will go to Sheboygan, Wis., where it will be opened for public inspection. From there it will go to Racine, thence to Manitowish and then to Chicago. There it will enter the Chicago Canal and river for the trip down the Mississippi to the gulf and the ocean. Its destination will be Pearl Harbor.

While here the most frequently asked question was why the sub did not demonstrate submerging. An officer of the Mero yesterday explained that the sub has submerged 61 times in the Great Lakes since the vessel was commissioned Aug. 6—but only in deep water. Water in Little Bay de Noc off Escanaba is about 36 feet deep, too shallow for the craft to dive with safety.

The dives are made for training purposes, and the last was in Lake Michigan in water 200 to 300 feet deep east of Poverty Island. On that dive, the officer explained, the Mero went under Saturday evening—and came up Sunday morning 12 hours later.

After surfacing the Mero continued on into Green bay and docked at Escanaba. The sub is completing a tour of the Great Lakes, and has dived and cruised every one of the five Great Lakes since last summer.

The officer said that on the dives the members of the crew are "very comfortable" and there is no discomfort. The sub is air conditioned. Although the maximum time the sub has been under in a training dive on the Lakes is 12 hours, the officer did not divulge how long it would be possible to stay under continuously.

After the Mero reaches Pearl Harbor it will be placed in regular service of the U. S. Navy in the Pacific.

For party wear with a simple dress, disengage one blossom from the cluster of artificial flowers you'll wear in your hair and wind the wired stem around a plain friendship ring, transforming it into a matching dinner ring. Careful, though—all flowers aren't adaptable to this trick. Daisies are fine, and any other small, flat posy or tiny flower cluster will do.

GARBAGE TRUCKBid Submitted By Local Firm Accepted By Council

Purchase of two major items of motor equipment took up most of the time of a long session of the city council at its regular meeting Monday evening.

Hour were taken up in the study of the comparative merits of trucks and equipment submitted by bids of four local dealers — Crawford & Holland, Alex Creighton, Lundstrom Chevrolet Company and Jos. Levin and the bid of Crawford & Holland, for a ton and one-half GMC truck, complete with Heil Colecto Refuse disposal body, was accepted. The bid was for $3,631.38 and included the expense involved in shipping the truck chassis from Pontiac to Milwaukee, installation of the garbage collecting equipment and its shipment on to Manistique. The bid for the truck chassis alone was $1325.00. The bidding was close.

The new garbage collector is the very latest type in equipment of this sort. Garbage and refuse may be emptied into the carrier with a minimum of lifting and through mechanized arrangement the refuse is solidly packed, thus making it possible to haul a far greater amount of refuse in one haul.

An award was also made to C. B. Rockman of Sault Ste. Marie, for an Oshkosh 4-wheel drive truck, equipped with a Willett underbody blade and hydraulic hoist dump box. The bid was $7,731.00.

Earlier in the evening the council voted the recommendation to the state liquor commission that the club license recently allowed the local post of the American Legion include a dance permit.

The council voted approval of the time honored practice of presenting city employees with turkeys at Christmas time. This good will gesture, it was explained by the city manager, is in recognition of the excellent safety record city employees have maintained through the years.

In view of the fact that November 12th will this year be recognized as Armistice day and that being the date of the next regular meeting, the council voted to omit this meeting and hold its next regular meeting on Monday, Nov. 26.

POOR HOUSE
IS NO MOREFurniture And Fixtures
Go Under Hammer Of Auctioneer

The Schoolcraft County poor house, more politely known as the "infirmary" has not been used to its intended purpose since January 1943, but the furniture, dishes and household fixtures have remained at the place, intact, until Monday when they went to the highest bidder under the auctioneer's manipulation.

It was a big day for both the auctioneer and the customer because much of the goods sold has been regarded as hard to get. And from the prices secured, it is grossly apparent that the goods brought more than they originally cost.

A few rooms in the building still remain in use, the welfare office maintaining quarters there and two rooms are set aside as detention quarters for juveniles remanded to the custody of the court; but the rest of the spacious building is now given over to echoing loneliness.

The present structure was built in 1908 when the building then used for its purpose, was found inadequate for the needs of the county. And in the intervening years, its capacity for fifty inmates was often taxed. It seems that the idea of giving over half of the building to the men and the other half to women created, at times, quite a problem. The men always greatly outnumbered the women and often when the men's quarters were crowded, there were not enough women to occupy more than one of two rooms.

The infirmary waned as a county institution when old age pensions came into being. Even though the help given some of these people through old age assistance has been comparatively small, few of the recipients have been found willing to exchange it for the food and shelter provided in the infirmary—not because the care given them has been poor but because staying at the infirmary meant forfeiture of pension privileges.

The building is a substantial one and the suggestion has often been made that it be converted into a hospital. The board of supervisors, at its last meeting signified its willingness to turn the property over for such a purpose, but turned thumbs down on any proposal to help endow such an enterprise.

MILL TO MAKE
WALL PAPER

Plant To Shut Down For A Week To Permit New Installations

Important changes in the machinery and arrangements at the Manistique Pulp & Paper Company mill which have been going on for the past several months, will necessitate the closing down of the plant this coming week, R. G. Hentschell, general manager states. The plant will be down for but a few days he adds.

The change will enable the mill to turn from the production of print and paper of an allied sort to the manufacture of wall paper, of "hanging paper," as it is known to the paper trade.

Mr. Hentschell stated that he did not believe that the mill will be making very great quantities of hanging paper for the present as resin an important ingredient, has not as yet been released from its status as a war time necessity. The navy uses vast quantities of this material and has been slow to grant priorities on it to private industry. Enough of it will be available, however, to permit the mill to make a trial run.

The change will in no way affect the mill's ability to continue the manufacture of print paper and it will continue, at least for the time being to turn out this product.

Rheumatic Fever
Menaces Youth Of Nation Says Speaker

A vivid picture of the inroads rheumatic fever is making in children between the ages of 9 and 15 was given Gladstone Rotarians Monday noon by Miss Elizabeth Vickers, Marquette, pediatric consultant for the cardiac program.

Rheumatic fever is one of the major health problems in the United States and constitutes one of the major problems to modern medicine, Miss Vickers said.

Last year the death rate from this source or from damaged hearts caused by rheumatic fever equalled that of four common childhood diseases combined.

The ailment is being studied in seven counties of the Upper Peninsula at the present time, the counties being used as an experimental area.

Little attention has been given the seriousness of the ailment until of late, but its deadliness is indicated by the fact that in the past decade the death rate from rheumatic heart or rheumatic fever has been twice that of polio.

In the counties in the Upper Peninsula now being studied there are now 140 cases.

However, that people generally are blind to its seriousness is indicated by the fact that since 1939 when the federal program to combat rheumatic fever was started only 19 states have taken advantage of it.

If the ailment can be prevented a great service is being done the child.

There are indications that lack of proper nutrition and crowded conditions in the home, improper housing, is one of the causes. However, the ailment may occur in other instances due to a genetic factor.

Long treatment is usually required in instances where the ailment is diagnosed in a child, and when the crisis is past and the child well enough to be released a constant check on conditions of home and child is made later.

A convalescent home where the child could remain for the required length of time, possibly as long as a year, would be a great help. Returning to unsuitable conditions may cause a recurrence of the ailment, the speaker said.

After they recover patients are given vocational rehabilitation. Improved and adequate housing is needed throughout the entire United States as a need in combating the disease, Miss Vickers said.

In Memoriam

In loving but lasting memory of our darling daughter, Beverly Ann, who passed away one year ago, November 6th, 1944.

You passed away one year ago. Into the Master's keeping. He said you were not dead, but only sleeping.

You were just a little darling. You never even cried. Just like a tiny rosebud. That faded away and died.

PROMOTE YULE LIGHTING HERE

Lions And Escanaba C-C
Sponsor Holiday
Contest

The Escanaba Lions club, in cooperation with the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce, will sponsor a Christmas lighting contest in the city this year, it has been announced by Nick Bink, Lions club president.

Similar contests were conducted by the Lions club and the Chamber of Commerce in pre-war years, but were discontinued during the war because of the WPA ban on decorative lighting. With a removal of all restrictions on outdoor lighting, it is planned to promote exterior decorative lighting throughout the community during the Christmas season.

In previous years certificates were awarded for first, second and third place winners in each of three districts of the city.

Arrangements for the 1945 holiday lighting contest will be made by a Lions club committee comprising Ken Gunderman, James Frenn, B. V. Sommers, H. C. Gerletti and Lee Hendricks.

MEA Officers Will Meet Here Saturday

Michigan Education Association officials of the upper peninsula district will meet in Escanaba Saturday, Nov. 10, at the junior high school to discuss current MEA problems. Joseph Gucky, of St. Ignace, immediate past president of the MEA, will conduct the meeting.

On Nov. 30, the state board of control for vocational education will conduct a conference of home making teachers at the junior high school here. It is one of two such conferences scheduled in the upper peninsula, the other to be held at Iron River.

The mid-winter regional conference for coordinators, vocational teachers and veterans education will be held here in January, Supt. John A. Lemmer has announced. The conference will be a three-day affair.

Attains Speeds Of Over 500 Miles Per Hour At Sea Level

Washington—Latest in Grumman's line of fighting "cats", the newly developed Bearcat, sister ship to the Wildcat, Hellcat and Tigercat, is said to be superior to either the Wildcat or Hellcat in both speed and maneuverability.

Although lighter by about a ton and a half than the Hellcat, the Bearcat, designated as the F8F, has the typical Grumman clipped wing tips, stubby fuselage and low-winged outward appearance of the Hellcat. Powered by a single-stage Pratt-Whitney radial engine, developing more than 2800 horsepower with water injection, the F8F is armed with four .50 caliber machine guns and is equipped with racks to carry rockets and bombs.

Manufactured by the Grumman Aircraft Engineering Corporation at Bethpage, Long Island, N. Y., the Bearcat is believed to be the fastest carrier-based, propeller-driven fighter in the world at sea level, making over 400 miles an hour in level flight. Extreme range of 1500 miles under ferry conditions and a rate of climb of nearly a mile a minute are claimed.

While Grumman was concentrating on carrier-based fighters, the Republic Aviation Corporation at Farmingdale, Long Island, had an experimental Army fighter flying at speeds in excess of 500 miles an hour as early as August 1944. Of a long line of P-47 Thunderbolts, the XP-47J dispelled the fallacy that propeller-driven, reciprocating-engine aircraft could not reach a level flight speed of 500 miles an hour.

But Now It's All Clothed Incident

Roanoke, Va. (P)—Police responded immediately when someone phoned that a "completely nude person" was sitting in a parked car right downtown. The nudist turned out to be a three-year-old girl, who had managed the buttons all by herself.

Standards for seaworthiness for American ships are approved by the American Bureau of Shipping.
